

Artwork by Shawan Mason

I sit here lonely and unknowing
Wondering what's in store for me
Hoping I would eventually find my place in the world
I just right into every situation
Never thinking of the outcome
I'll be happy for a while
Ending suddenly, resulting in a broken heart
Sad thoughts fill my head
But happiness slowly returns
Because each time I fall down
I pick myself back down
I let out a breath then I sign
I look across the room clouded with emptiness
This room feels so quiet, dim and alone
Familiar friends I see their faces
But wonder where they are now
Since I'm left here by myself
I sit here lonely and unknowing.

Colleen O'Grady